Autism has affected 1 out of 91 children.

This camp has given children with autism, their brothers and sisters, a chance to have a fun time, along with social, speech and adaptive P.E. Instruction.

For two weeks they are able to venture out to the community to participate in various activities. Parents have been able to meet with other parents to exchange information, rest, have fun and learn more things to help their child/children. The community has come together to provide this camp free for the families... Be a part of helping these families by supporting this event.
